Resolved. That it is the sense of this committee that all frue Republicans are tired of factions and bossiss, and that the time has come for united action; and that we recommend that the Republicans of this district select true and representative men as delegates to the state convention at Sedaila, the 4th previne, and also to the district convention at St. Joseph. By order of the Fourth District Republican congressional committee.

A. E. WYATT, Chairman. JNO, DECLUE, Secretary.

THE DUTY OF REPUBLICANS.

Republicans, look to your laurels. The foundation of the next year's work for the Republic can party by close at hand; the preliminary at the Christian church last Monday eve. It working toward the nomination of 3 candidate for prosident. To look to it from the beginning that no mistakes are made, should be the duly in the room formerly occupied by R. I. Rea as of all sound Republicans. In the prinlary meeting is the place to start right, and the time for last winter but has a new supply of fixtures and every man to put his hand to the work. The should be patronized very best men should be selected as delegates to county, state and national conventions. As a first requisite, these delegates should be representative men of the party, and not of this or that elique or man.

The great mass of Republicans have grown to be deliberate and thinking men, and car not be voted, but vote according to their own unblased judgments. They will not vote unless the candidate as well as the issue is to their mind. They will stay at home if matters do not suit them, but on the other hand will turn out to a man when satisfied. This has been clearly demonstrated in the state elections in the east when temperance and like doubtful questions have been at issue.

How clearly has this been shown up in the recent campaign and election of the Second dis-trict in Kansas. The broad, liberal, progresstrict in Kansas. The broad, liberal, programmer with the record of the party is something all are very badly.

Now is the time to give life, interest and go to work ; apathy is sure defeat.

The Democrats have made the chances of the Republican party the best for years. Now is the time for every Republican to come to the front, assert himself, and see to it that a straightforward course is pursued, and that the long established faith of the people in the party is not
